

Charlbury Town Council Election - 6th May

VOTE FOR JAMES STYRING

We lived in Oxford for 25 years until moving upriver to Charlbury seven years ago. Lured by the great cycling on- and off-road, the Rosie, and festivals all around, it was the best move we ever made. I'm a freelance writer and at my office in Sheep Street, I write schoolbooks for children learning English in schools all around the world. My children are at the primary school, and we've survived homeschooling. And if you've survived homeschooling, you can do anything, right?

When the Town Council declared a climate emergency, I joined a team of volunteers looking at helping Charlbury lower its carbon emissions from journeys – things like a shared electric car/e-bike club, and a better local cycling network, especially for younger residents. With a 'journeys' hat on, I'd like to make the Enstone Rd crossroads safe for people walking and for road users, and tackle problem areas around the town that you think need looking at. If elected, that's what I'd like to focus on as a councillor.
